tha received him into her house. And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Jesus' feet, and heard his word. But Martha was encumbered about much serving, and came to him, and said, Lord, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve alone? bid her therefore that she help me. And Jesus answered and said unto her, Martha, Martha, thou art careful and troubled about many things: But one thing is needful: and Mary hath chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her."

You have here two sisters, one household. Jesus has entered their home. Martha is busy preparing and Mary is busy listening. Martha wants everything in the house to be perfect but Mary wants her heart to be filled. You could almost feel the tension and the frustration building up in Martha because she confronted Jesus about Mary not helping.

However, Jesus reminded Martha of what truly is important. There are some things that can wait!

I would ask you, If Jesus came to visit you in your home, would you be a Martha or a Mary? Would you be cumbered with so many tasks that you would miss the good part? Or, would you be a willing vessel that would sit at the feet of Jesus and take it all in and choose the good part?

When the lady made the statement the other day at Bible study, it made me think about what I need to do and how I need to approach tasks in my life. I need to first choose the good part daily.

We can learn a lesson about the sisters, Martha and Mary. We all have their traits, however let prioritize what truly is important and that is Jesus.

Happy spiritual birthday to those who celebrated this past week.

Happy birthay to those who celebrated this past week.

Birth congratulations to Tish and Jordan Lester on the birth of their little girl, Tomi.

Happy anniversary to those who celebrated this past week.

Wedding congratulations to Bailey and Evan Allen, and to Taylor and JT Leadingham.

On October 9th, my sister, Kim Burton and myself were overnight guests of Larry and Patty Barker Schlomer in Aberdeen, Ohio. Aberdeen is just across the river from Maysville, Ky. Mom and Larry had a huge yard/garage sale and we were able to come up, help and visit. Larry prepared steaks for dinner on Friday evening. It was wonderful as we got to meet some of their friends and neighbors and visit with them while the days were enjoyable to have a sale.

Condolences are extended to the families of Joyce Brown, Jimmie Smith and Jackie Frisby.

Christians, we have a mandate: we all can "DO BETTER SOULS ARE AT STAKE." Let your light shine for the Lord. Let your conversation be seasoned with salt. Be the hands and feet of Jesus. These are not mere words. These are ACTIONS!

Eastern Kentucky PRIDE Homeowner Septic Program opens

SOMERSET, Ky., October 13 — Eastern Kentucky PRIDE (Personal Responsibility In a Desirable Environment) at The Center for Rural Development announced recently that it has opened applications for the Homeowner Septic Program, thanks to funding secured through Community Project Funding by U.S. Rep. Harold "Hal" Rogers.

Eastern and southern Kentucky communities still have a significant number of households with straight pipes, no sewage disposal, or failing septic systems. Repairs can be costly, especially for low-income families. The Homeowner Septic Program will provide grants for septic system repairs, replacements, or installations for qualifying low-income families across the 42-counties that PRIDE serves. Applications will be accepted until funding is exhausted.

Qualifying counties are: Adair, Bath, Bell, Boyd, Breathitt, Carter, Casey, Clay, Clinton, Cumberland, Elliott, Floyd, Green, Harlan, Jackson, Johnson, Knott, Knox, Laurel, Lawrence, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Lincoln, Magoffin, Martin, McCreary, Menifee, Metcalfe, Monroe, Morgan, Owsley, Perry, Pike, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Rowan, Russell, Taylor, Wayne, Whitley, and Wolfe.

The Homeowner Septic Program is available to low-income families who own the land and property where they live and that have electricity (or will have electricity upon completion of the septic project). Qualifications and applications are now available online at www.kypride.org, as well as at The Center for Rural Development or by calling 1-888-577-4339. Homeowners can also contact their local Health Departments for more information.

"Kentuckians deserve clean, safe communities and a key component of that is clean water" said Lonnie Lawson, President and CEO at The Center for Rural Development. "Waste from non-existent or failing septic systems eventually ends up in our groundwater and streams. This program will help us make a big difference in our region."

life in Southern and Eastern Kentucky. In its 45-county primary service region, The Center provides innovative programs in leadership, public safety, technology, and arts and culture. The Center is committed to constantly expanding its capabilities in order to deliver a range of key services throughout Kentucky and the nation.
