

FHLB Cincinnati and Fahe expand Rise Up Program with up to $3M in funds

Down payment assistance of $25,000 available for qualifying homebuyers in Kentucky

SUBMITTED

The Federal Home Loan Bank of Cincinnati (FHLB) and Fahe have announced the expansion of the Rise Up Program throughout Kentucky. The Rise Up Program, funded by FHLB Cincinnati, will offer $25,000 grants to be used for down payment, closing costs or principal reduction assistance for households that qualify. A total of up to $3 million in funding is available in Kentucky. “Expanding the Rise Up down payment assistance program into Kentucky means families throughout the Commonwealth will get the support they need to become homeowners for the first-time. By focusing on first-time, first-generation home ownership, we look to help those who have previously encountered barriers that excluded them from the opportunity to own a home,” said Andy Howell, president and CEO, FHLB Cincinnati. “At Fahe, we’re proud to expand access to homeownership and bring new resources to qualifying first-time, first-generation homebuyers. Through our partnership with FHLB Cincinnati, we’re able to offer $25,000 in down payment assistance — helping individuals and families who might otherwise have no approaches and for funding that rewards results while supporting long-term recovery through access to housing, job training, and wraparound services. “Kentucky stands at a pivotal crossroads in our collective response to substance use disorder,” said Abbie Gilbert, KNRA Chief Policy & External Affairs Officer. “For too long, recovery has been viewed in fragments: clinical treatment in one place, housing support in another, wrap around services somewhere else. Recovery is not a single event or an isolated service. It is a dynamic, interconnected ecosystem, and KNRA aims to ensure that every link in this ecosystem is strong, coordinated, and resilient.” Beyond policy, KNRA will work to shift the recovery narrative. Through storytelling and lived experience, the coalition will combat stigma and promote healing, dignity, and hope. “KNRA would not exist without the dedication and vision of our members,” said Gene Detherage Jr., Chief Membership & Operations Officer of the Kentucky Nonprofit Recovery Alliance. “We are deeply grateful for every organization, advocate, and ally contributing to a stronger, more connected recovery community across Kentucky, and we are proud to stand alongside them as we work together to improve outcomes, expand access, and deliver opportunities for Kentuckians to live fully restored lives.”
