Ancestral Trails provides quarterlies to library

Ancestral Trails Historical Society has an ongoing project of preserving history through collection of past published quarterlies. The project's focus is to not only preserve history but to save the environment by avoiding increased products in the local dump. Mary Decker, Grayson County Historical Society, donated quarterlies which are dated from 2000-06. Each quarterly contains important historical information for the local area and surrounding counties. It might just contain that one brief hidden gem you have been searching for regarding your ancestors. Laurel Tabaka, library director, right, accepts this donation from Marcia Barnes, ATHS vice-president, to be placed in the history room for enjoyment by all.
