

Coleman fights to crack down on illegal E-Cigarettes

FRANKFORT – Attorney General Russell Coleman announced he is asking the Trump Administration to partner with states to protect kids from illegal Chinese e-cigarettes. In a letter to U.S. Attorney General Pam Bondi, U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services

Robert F. Kennedy, Jr. and others, General Coleman and 28 other attorneys general underscore the threat of illegal, flavored Chinese e-cigarettes that are flooded into U.S. markets in flagrant disregard of Kentucky and federal law.

Last year, billions of dollars’ worth of illegal Chinese e-cigarettes were sold in the United States. The products often use colorful packaging, sweet flavors and video-game themes designed to target teenagers and kids. While overall youth tobacco use is at a record low, most children who report using e-cigarettes in the past 30 days are using illegally smuggled, Chinese-made products.

Manufacturers and distributors of Chinese e-cigarettes often fail to submit applications for FDA review before selling their products in the U.S. Many of these illicit products are intentionally mislabeled to avoid detection by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) or U.S. Customs and Border Protection. They also evade inspections and basic security procedures, putting Americans at risk of inhaling unknown toxins.
