Veterans event planned at The Store in Preston needs family input

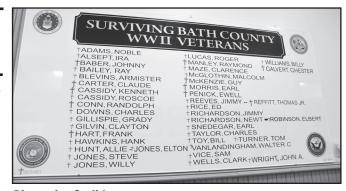

By Cecil Lawson KyNewsGroup cecil@kynewsgroup.com

Mike Cassidy, owner of The Store in Preston, is planning to have an event this July 19 to honor the families of Bath County's World War II and Korean War veterans. The county lost its last living World War II veteran, Frank Hart, Jr., in August Cassidy's father, Roscoe

Cassidy, was the state's oldest World War II veteran, who passed away at age 107 in 2014. Cassidy is hoping to reach out to all the families of Bath County's World War II and Korean War veterans to get information about each of their soldiers' ser-

These two memorials, one located inside the Bath County Courthouse, and the other outside the courthouse in the front lawn, honor Bath County's fallen soldiers from World War II and the Korean War. The indoor memorial, placed in 2007, at that time honored World War II veterans still living. Bath County's last living World War II veteran, Frank Hart, Jr., passed away in August 2024.

vice records to share at the upcoming event.

The July 19 event wants to bring together those families and the community to celebrate their soldier's service and to help them reach some closure.

"This is a family, and I encouraged us to always press on to win in sports and in life, never having a quitting attitude but a win-life. There was a famous quote that hung in his office written by the famous

Coach Vince Lombardi and it reads as follows, "Win-becoming an established foundation of higher education in my mind that had a profound effect of invaluable realizations of positive influence that I hold dear want to see them treated as such, "Cassidy said.

The event is currently in the planning stages, but Cassidy said he needs to hear from family members of the county's WWII and Korean War veterans. Many of their names are

Thank You, Mr. Cundiff

Philippians 1:3 I thank my God in all my remembrance of you.

Friends, there are some people that leave a positive impact upon your life and I would love to share with you a grade school Coach that did just that for me and even to this day that very impact has been such a blueprint of dreams and aspirations that helped shape me into the person that I have joyously become in Jesus Christ my Lord. Mr. Cundiff was just that for me as I remember my driven interest in the participation of sports as I loved Track, Basketball and Volleyball. Sports was a huge part of my life at that time so were the building blocks for greater success being deeply embedded within my heart as Mr. Cundiff

God places some people in your life to inspire and influence you for the shaping of the greater good that will manifest throughout your life. Without reserve, I share this today with gratitude from a thankful heart for Mr. Cundiff and his faithful career of sharing his professional skills and continued efforts to help others achieve their dreams through endurance and perseverance. Obtaining goals takes hard work and effort but the rewards are wealthy in substance! Enjoy your labour. See Ecclesiastes 5:18-20

Remember, a can - do attitude can do anything through a heart that only believes!

God uses people in mighty ways throughout your life.

Graduation time is in the air and what an appropriate time to thank your educators as the World can be a cruel place and your strengths and wise education will be very crucial as you pursue your dreams. Putting God and His King dom first is the best educational place to start so that you can finish well with an incorruptible crown and highest achievements!

Gratitude is a such a blessing!
