"I've missed many a fishing or hunting trip to coach and at some point, people need to understand and get more involved in the future of the community, the kids. We're the old codgers. To me, we're so successful because we put the kids first...the love of watching them succeed, that's where WE succeed."

The future of the Harrison County Archery Team is bright indeed. With the Middle Schoolers just winning a national title, they'll be taking those skills and experiences with them to the High School level and will look to help break into the top 5 and maybe even win the whole thing.

"When you get to the high school level, they get jobs, worries about their future, relationships...there's a lot on their minds," explained Fryman. "But these middle school kids moving up to the next level should make some waves. There's some really talented and seasoned archers coming up, that's for certain."

It's been a fun and wild ride for everyone involved with the team, that is also for certain. But the reason for the countless hours of work, travel, and practice is what they've kept close to their hearts.

"We're competing for Harrison County and Cynthiana," stated Fryman. "It's about pride from being from here. These kids take on the aspects that they're shooting for their community."
