

Fritz wins resumed Wimbledon match over Perricard

It was clear Fritz preferred to continue, but it wasn't up to him. Mpetshi Perricard was in favor of stopping when they did – "I wasn't in the best shape, to be honest," he said – and didn't like the idea of

“He didn’t want to. That’s totally understandable. I wasn’t bothered or, I guess, upset at him for not wanting to play. I totally get it,” said Fritz, a 27-year-old Californian. “But I still felt confident. It would have been easy for me to get frustrated about not being able to play last night. To be honest, I felt confident going into the fifth set – (whether) it was last night or today. I had to tell myself he’s going to be sleeping on what

Fritz not only managed to get his

He lost in the first round at the

"This is a huge, huge week for me, with the recent results on grass. So I was thinking about that in this match," he said. "It put a lot of pressure on me, because I really didn't want to go out in the first round."

Zverev has reached the fourth round at Wimbledon three times, including last year, but never beyond that point. He lost to Taylor Fritz in five sets a year ago.
