Kentucky Fish & Wildlife expands CWD Surveillance Zone to include Henderson, Union, Webster counties

New Chronic Wasting Disease (CWD) surveillance measures are now in effect for Henderson, Union, and Webster counties, following the detection of CWD in a deer harvested just across the Ohio River in Posey County, Indiana.

In response, the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Commission approved a CWD Surveillance Zone for the three counties, expanding the state's existing surveillance area, which includes Ballard, Breckinridge, Calloway, Carlisle, Fulton, Graves, Hardin, Hickman, Marshall, Meade and McCracken counties. The zone brings specific regulations to help limit the spread of the disease among deer.

Key Regulations Now in Effect:

Mandatory Testing: Hunters in Henderson, Union and Webster counties must bring deer harvested during the first three days of modern gun season (Nov. 8-10, 2025) to a staffed check station or CWD Sample Drop-Off site for testing.

Carcass Transport Limits: Whole carcasses or high-risk parts from deer harvested in the zone cannot leave the three counties. Permitted items for transport include de-boned meat, clean skulls and teeth, antlers (with or without a clean skull cap), hides and finished taxidermy mounts. Carcasses of deer harvested outside the zone may be brought in.

Rehabilitation Ban: The rehabilitation of deer is prohibited within the surveillance zone.
