

KFB's 61st annual Ham Breakfast raises $10M for Kentucky charities

The 61st annual Kentucky Farm Bureau (KFB) Country Ham Breakfast and Charity Auction, held last Thursday at the Kentucky State Fair, brought in a combined winning bid of $10 million in support of Kentucky charities, continuing the longstanding tradition of generosity that has made this event one of the Commonwealth's most anticipated gatherings.

During the live auction led by Auctioneer Rylan Shea, dozens of attendees eagerly bid for a chance to take home the prized ham. Eventually, Kelly and Joe Craft and Central Bank combined their bids and will each donate $5 million to causes across Kentucky. This year's Grand Champion Country Ham, weighing in at 16.5 lbs., was produced by Josh Poling of Broadbent's Country Hams in Kuttawa, Ky.

This is the second time the Crafts and Central Bank have partnered on the winning bid, with their joint donation of $10 million in 2023 making a difference in the lives of thousands of Kentuckians. "Each year, this breakfast brings Kentuckians together to celebrate agriculture and to give back in meaningful ways," said Eddie Melton, KFB president. "I am proud of how this event continues to grow in impact and tradition. Together, we're showing that, when our rural and urban communities unite around Kentucky agriculture, we can make a difference across the Commonwealth."

The Crafts were out of town but sent their representative, Jennifer Barber of Frost Brown Todd, to bid on their behalf.

"Kelly and Joe Craft would like to thank Kentucky Farm Bureau for hosting this wonderful event again this year," said Barber. "They hope their charitable contributions will help improve the lives of Kentuckians across the Commonwealth. This year's $5 million donation will go to the Boys & Girls Club of Glasgow-Barren County Craft Innovation Campus, the Craft Academy at Morehead State University, and building houses in Eastern Kentucky through the Foundation for Appalachian Kentucky."

Central Bank's $5 million bid will be distributed to a variety of Kentucky charities, continuing its legacy of philanthropic giving. Beneficiaries are expected to include:

- University of Kentucky Athletics
- Markey Cancer Center
- Gatton College of Business & Economics
- University of Kentucky Alumni Association
- Transylvania University
- University of Kentucky Med Center
- BMW Academy
- Keeneland
- St. Elizabeth Healthcare
