

DRAGONS

That’s going to be one of these. I know it’s right there on the doorstep, and here before you know it, it’s going be there. We’re going to be right there. We’re going to be the one hoisting that trophy at the end of the night.”

Estrada hopes that he was able to influence and help the younger players grow into their roles for the years to come.

“I hope I come back and see them playing a little bit like me,” Estrada said. “I know there’s some things I can fix, but I’m just excited to see them take my knowledge and carry it on. I hope that keeps happening. I hope I can be a leader in the future, in college and outside of college.”

Madsen will remember the bonds and relationships he’s built playing lacrosse.

“I’m happy with the connections I’ve made with these guys, these seniors and the rest of the people on the team,” Madsen said. “I know when I think back to lacrosse, it’s not just going to be about the sport, but it’s going to be about the guys that I played it with. I’m just happy I got these relationships that I know are going to last, and hopefully, I’ll stay connected with them in the future.”
