

CONNECT at Bernheim Forest on Aug. 16

CLERMONT – CONNECT at Bernheim returns on Saturday, Aug. 16, from 6:34 until 11:34 p.m. CONNECT fills the forest with music, art, science and nature! Held around Lake Nevin at Bernheim Forest and Arboretum, this enchanting evening will include interactive art, hands-on activities, and live performances by five local bands on two stages.

Headlining the arts festival will be renowned Louisville-based band DOOM GONG. The event will also feature performances by The Low Glow, Jameron, No Dead Dogs, and Future Killer.

“This unique lineup promises an unforgettable experience for music enthusiasts and supporters of the local arts scene. Each act will showcase their distinctive sounds and delight the crowd with energetic performances,” stated Ida Brown, Event Coordinator at Bernheim Forest and Arboretum.

SPONTANEOUS ART AND MESMERIZING EXPERIENCES AROUND

Spontaneous art and mesmerizing light sculptures will be a highlight at CONNECT as well. The event showcases a fusion of creativity and brings together artists and creatives for a one-of-a-kind experience. Bold, interactive installations will transform the 1.3-mile Lake Nevin Loop into a vibrant, illuminated trail.

“From dazzling illuminated sculptures to spontaneous bursts of dance, CONNECT celebrates the wild, wonderful power of art to spark curiosity, stir emotion, and deepen our connections to nature,” said Jenny Zeller, Arts in Nature Curator at Bernheim. “CONNECT truly highlights our regional creative community and these experiences don’t just compliment the event, they amplify its magic.”

Plenty of fun, unique family activities will also be featured at CONNECT. Louisville Silent Disco is back this year, setting the groove near Little Elina, one of the beloved Forest Giants. Participants will wear wireless headphones to control volume and music selection, creating an unforgettable dance experience.

When night falls, a laser light show will light up Lake Nevin and delight the crowd. Attendees will also enjoy nature discovery stations, astronomy talks, food trucks, craft beer, bourbon, and more.

CONNECT at Bernheim is made possible through the generous support of Forest Lounge Sponsor, the James B. Beam Distilling Co., Sunset Sponsor, Heaven Hill Brands, Night Sponsors Wilson & Muir Bank and Trust Co, Sterling Thompson Company, and Deckel & Mon-eypenny, as well as Starry Sky Sponsor Modica and supporting sponsor Louisville Public Media.

“We’re not in a race to build the most electric cars,” Farley told the AP when asked about competition from China. “We’re in a race to have a sustainable electric business that’s profitable, that customers love.

“And this new vehicle built in Louisville, Kentucky, is going to be a much better solution to anything that anyone can buy from China,” he added.

Ford could have opted to launch its EV project overseas to reap lower-cost labor and currency advantages but instead is “taking the fight to our competition” from the plant in Kentucky, Farley said at Monday’s event. But the Ford CEO cautioned that “there are no guarantees” with project.

“We’re doing so many new things I can’t tell you with 100% certainly that this will all go just right,” he said. "It is a bet. There is risk. The automotive industry has a graveyard littered with affordable vehicles that were launched in our country with all good intentions. And they fizzled out with idle plants, laid off workers and red ink. And at Ford ... we set out to break that cycle.”
