Everybody cut Footloose!

The lights went down, and the curtain rose as the first weekend of Footloose, performed by the CKT Youth Actors, began.

Footloose follows Ren, and his mom, when they move from Chicago to a small town. As Ren adjusts to his new life, he has to battle a new school, friends and foes, alongside the new ways of his new town. When the local preacher has his hand in banning dancing, his daughter catches Ren in the corner of her eye, begging to know more. Slowly the town begins to warm up to Ren, and with this newfound faith, this small town could take on the world.

The play ran November 14, 15, and 16. It will run one more weekend on November 21, 22, and 23. All Fridays and Saturdays the shows will be at 7 p.m., while on the Sundays it will be held at 2 p.m.. However, every section of this show is fully sold out, and your next chance to see these actors will be Spongebob the Musical in the Spring.

"We have sold out all of our shows for the entire run, even before we opened," said Director Hollie Bannister. "This is the first time this has happened in CKT history."

This support is not lost on anyone in the crew, or the actors themselves – whether it comes from one another, family and friends, or upmost, the community.

"I feel like I can try new things in a safe and supportive environment," said Senior Callie Harris, who plays Vi Moore in this production. "There are wonderful people here. I have gotten to know almost every single person involved with the board, case, directors, and every single one of them has been nothing but supportive of me."

On December 5 and 6, CKT Performing Arts Academy will be hosting a production of Won't You Guide My Sleigh? at 6 p.m. both nights.

Ephraim McDowell Health Care Foundation funds Grief Kits

DANVILLE – Ephraim McDowell Health announces the launch of a new initiative from its Patient Experience Department, thanks to funding from the Ephraim McDowell Health Care Foundation. The Patient Experience Department has purchased Grief Kit items for families who have lost a loved one within the hospital.

"We greatly appreciate the support of the Foundation in funding these Grief Kit items," said Jason Dean, vice president of Clinical Effectiveness for Ephraim McDowell Health. "These items align with our mission to provide value to the people we serve. The compassionate program reflects the organization's commitment to whole-person care ... not only for patients but also for the families who walk beside them. We are especially grateful to Brooke Smith for her leadership and dedication in spearheading this meaningful project."

Each item in the Grief Kit is thoughtfully designed to offer comfort and support during one of life's most difficult moments. The items include things such as journals, tissues, comfort tokens, thumbprint cards and information on grief. The goal is to provide both emotional and practical support to grieving families, showing them that their experience matters and they are not alone.

By offering these kits, the hospital reinforces its values of empathy, dignity, and personalized care—extending its service beyond clinical walls and into the emotional well-being of the community. The launch of the Grief Kits is another step in delivering meaningful experiences to those the hospital is honored to serve, even in moments of sorrow.

"We were honored to assist with the funding of these Grief Kits," said Chris Davis, board chair of the Ephraim McDowell Health Care Foundation. "There is no greater expression of generosity than to provide support to a family who has lost a loved one."
