CORBIN — Downtown Corbin welcomed the return of the Evergreen Artisan Market last week, bringing two days of holiday shopping, hand-crafted art, and more to Harvey's on Main. The market, held Friday and Saturday, was organized by Ben and Emily of

BE.leathercraft alongside Kellene Turner Art, who created this year's theme of "Celebrate Art, Celebrate Community, and Celebrate the Season." The event featured more than a dozen local and regional artisans — offering everything from custom leatherwork and handmade rugs to woodworking, fine art and specialty gifts. Shoppers browsed booths from vendors such as Mountain Gap Coffee Company, 606 Rugs, Acorn Valley Art, Sarah Floyd Artistry, Angela Joy Art and Helton Hollow Woodworx. The two-day event also included live music, photos with Santa, and extended hours to coincide with the annual Corbin Christmas Parade on Main Street, giving visitors an opportunity to enjoy both events in one evening. With support from sponsors including Downtown Corbin, Corbin Tourism and Convention Commission, Cumberland Craftworks, Laurel Gardens Keavy, Heather Martinez Realtor—Shawn Rogers Realty, Pepsi Cola of Corbin, and the Cumberland Arts Collective, the market once again offered a festive start to the holiday season.
