

Not your normal Days of Our Lives recap

Kristen DiMera’s mother, Rachel Blake, finally changed out of the white pajamas she had been wearing for 30 years and put on a new outfit that looked like she unrolled a roll of gauze and wrapped herself in it.

While in the only room the people staying at Di-Mera Mansion hang out in, Rachel tells E.J. how much trouble he’s going to be in when she rattles on him for kidnapping Rafe and replacing him with fake Rafe.

E.J. is like, “Not so fast,” and pokes her with a needle that has “forget everything” serum in it. However, she knew E.J. was no count and had done the same thing with Rafe, so she had earlier replaced the forget everything serum with something harmless. But because she is cuckoo, instead of faking amnesia until she could get to safety, she babbles on how it didn’t work because she replaced it.

E.J. gets all frowny faced and says he will resort to Plan B. We don’t see Plan B, but her eyes get big as he approaches her and later he’s on the phone thanking his assistant Rita for helping get her to “another place.”

Julie Horton, who welcomed a young man in her home who proclaimed to be her late husband Doug’s grandson and who said he was fresh out of prison, has been dealing with the disappearance of her grandmother’s big ole diamond necklace.

It was stolen by Doug’s grandson, but she doesn’t know that. He needed money to pay off some bad people.

Anyway, Julie walks in the local restaurant and sees Melinda Trask wearing the necklace and accuses her of stealing it. Trask says she bought it from a reputable person, which is a lie because she bought it from Leo Stark, who knew good and well it was a stolen necklace.

Tate Black is with girlfriend Holly Jonas, when she gets a call from Doug Williams asking her to come talk to him. Kinda jealous, Tate tells her not to go and that the more she hangs out with Doug, the more trouble she’s going to get in. This is coming from a young man who has been in trouble himself for the past five years because his parents were just pitiful examples.

Holly flees to see to find Doug, who says he is going to confess and tell Granny Julie he stole the necklace.

Meanwhile, busybody and jealous Tate calls Julie and tells her Doug stole the necklace. She tells him he’s wrong and that’s the end of that. But she knows better, and it eats at her when she hangs up the phone. and she bites her knuckle in anguish.

Julie don’t play. She’s can be savage when that temper gets to rollin’ and that’s exactly what happened.

Actually, Doug was going to tell her what he did but he was a little too late since Tate blabbed it already.

Julie tears in to him and tells him to leave.

He apologizes and leaves. Julie wails in agony and clutches a pillow.

Marlena and Steve “Patch” Johnson who just has one eye, arrived in a foreign country in search of Marlena’s husband John, who has gone missing with his secret agent work.

Everybody and their mama is angry at E.J. Ava told him he would get justice.

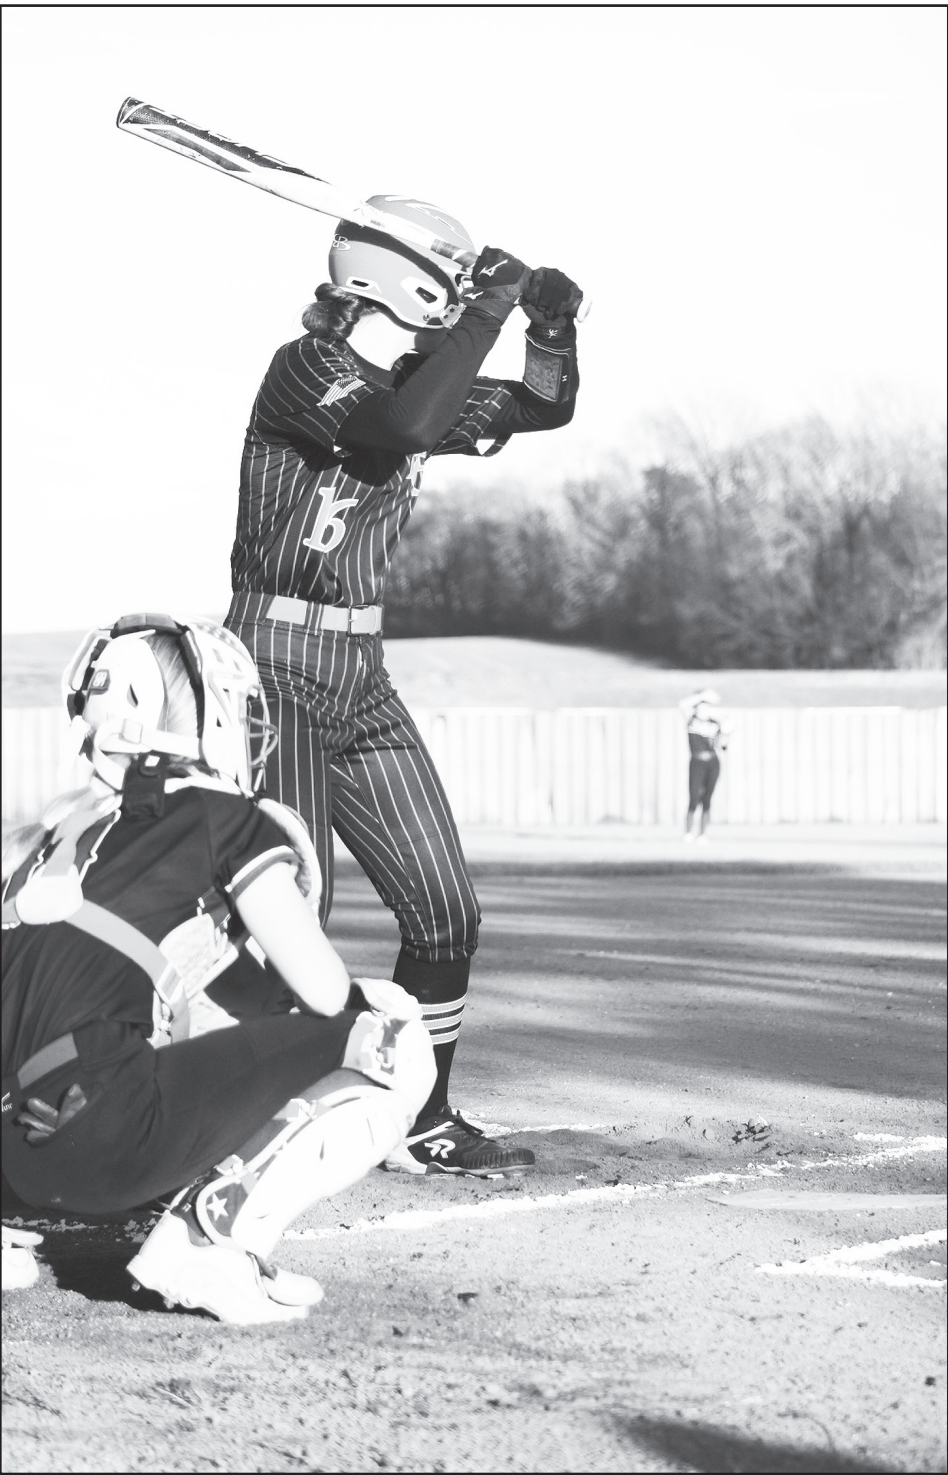

His sis, Kristen, said he would pay for making her mama vanish.

His son hates him for keeping dark family secrets from him.

Ava is angry for his role in Rafe’s disappearance.

It’s not looking good for E.J.
