

Not your normal Days of Our Lives recap

Rafe, Rafe, Rafe.
After sneaking in Di-Mera Mansion to leave a hidden camera in a plant to catch E.J. DiMera confessing his evil deeds, he retrieved the teeny camera to pop the camera card in his laptop back at his house that would reveal who shot E.J., some footage he hadn't counted on capturing when he placed the camera there in a plant.

At first, it looked like it might take six months for his elbow to move from picking up the card to actually putting it in the laptop.

Curiosity would drive any normal person to make that an immediate priority as they would not rest until they excitedly saw what it revealed.

But this is Salem and Salemites we're talking about.

Instead of immediately popping it in, he meets with his ex-girlfriend Jada to hash out some stuff. After they break up, he chats with his sister Gabi, then he FINALLY, he gets back to the laptop and his camera card is missing.

He asks Gabi if she knows anything about it missing, and she says she doesn't. She is one of the 500 suspects in E.J's murder.

E.J's son, Johnny, is also a suspect.

Johnny's wife Chanel asked him how his job search is going. Bwaaah-hhhhhhaaaaa. The boy has barely worked a lick in the past three years. Anyway, Chanel tells him not to worry because they have a financial cushion, possibly from her working an hour a week at her Sweet Bits bakery in Salem, despite the time someone put drugs in the dough and half the town went nuts, growling and foaming at the mouth, biting people, and dating people they normally wouldn't.

Johnny and Chanel may also have a financial cushion because they were living at DiMera mansion until Johnny got mad at this dad and now they are living with Chanel's mom Paulina and husband Abe in the tackiest apartment on planet earth. But hey, still no rent to pay!

Johnny has a flash back memory and he is taking a gun out of a metal box, without wearing gloves, so his fingerprints are all over it.

E.J. is out of his coma and Belle confesses her love for him.

Bad news has reached the family members of Bo Brady. He's about to die for the 2nd or third time. They are all down and about to drag out their funeral clothes again that they barely got back on the hangers when Dr. Kayla, his sister, remembers a doctor associated with Salem Hospital that's doing some research on a new medicine that might cure Bo, and they all beam with smiles and raised eyebrows of hope.
