D'oh! The Apocalypse Is Here: University of Louisville Department of Theatre Arts Presents Mr. Burns: a Post-Electric Play
What happens to popular culture when the world as we know it comes to an end? The University of Louisville Department of Theatre Arts invites audiences to find out with its upcoming production of Anne Washburn's Mr. Burns: a Post-Electric Play, a wildly inventive theatrical journey that explores how stories evolve, how communities survive, and why we continue to tell the stories that matter to us.
Washburn's play combines dark comedy, post-apocalyptic science fiction, and theatrical spectacle to ask compelling questions about the role of art and entertainment in human society. What do we choose to remember? How do stories change as they are passed from one generation to another? And when everything else disappears, what will we preserve?
