UP TO THE TASK

Commissioner gets waxing as Jordan's Way helps bring funds to AARF

BY TAMMIE HETZER-WOMACK
FOR THE DAILY INDEPENDENT

Viral phenomenon Jordan's Way came to Ashland for Ashland Animal Rescue Fund on Thursday, Sept. 10 — with all the mania of putting area volunteers up to silly and frightening challenges, like smearing peanut butter all over faces and letting dogs go to town. Folks were: "slimed" with massive buckets of blue goo; got locked-up in kennels; took pies and cracked eggs to the faces; were taunted with chomping water bugs and scorpions, and hosed down with cold water. A team of AARF community supporters led the way, accepting all the smelly, funny, hilarious stunts for cash. Sen. Robin Webb, R-Grayson, and her son Grayson Mayor Troy Combs enlisted in the escapades along with Ashland city commissioner DJ Rymer. After a group of women accumulated enough donations to avert having their heads shaved bald, in return, Rymer was forced to wax his chest hair — proving painful and a testament to his love of animals. The event raised $8,000 for local rescue animals who need homes, food, veterinary care and shelter from the increasing storms as the area economy weighs upon charitable giving at AARF and other shelters. Rising costs make survival of animal shelters increasingly difficult.

Several indicted in Greenup County

BY AARON SNYDER
THE DAILY INDEPENDENT

GREENUP A Greenup County grand jury handed up indictments on a variety of charges earlier this month. An indictment is a formal accusation and is not necessarily an indication of guilt. Anyone named in an indictment should be presumed innocent unless proven guilty in a court of law.

- Carlos B. James, 22, of Catlettsburg, was indicted on first-degree burglary and second-degree criminal mischief charges.

- Edward Townsend, 45, of South Shore, was indicted on a first-degree sexual abuse charge.
- Brittany N. Spriggs, 30, of South Shore, was indicted on a second-degree trafficking charge (20 or more dosage units of barbiturates).
- Leighann Y. Spriggs, 40, of South Shore, was indicted on a second-degree trafficking charge (20 or more dosage units of barbiturates).
- Dana M. Carroll, 56, of Garritson, was indicted on charges of second-degree trafficking (drug unspecified), first-degree failure of non-owner operator to maintenance required insurance, failure to notify address change to the Department of Transportation and inadequate silencer.

- Joshua A. Miller Jr., 18, of South Portsmouth, was indicted on charges of third-degree assault of a police officer or probation officer, first-degree wanton endangerment of a police officer, menacing, obstruction/interference with an officer and resisting arrest.

PET OF THE WEEK

The Daily Independent's Pet of the Week is Molly. The 7-year-old German pit "was a bait dog before we rescued her," according to her owner. She loves helping take care of the guinea pigs and reptiles, her owner said. "She loves her ropes but is scared of squeaky toys and very protective of her family." Molly is one of hundreds of entries into the newspaper's contest on Facebook.
