Tech with coach Kenny Brooks two years ago, led the Wildcats with 16 points. Asia Boone had 11 points while Teonni Key added 10 points and nine rebounds. Kentucky, which has never been past the Sweet 16, also lost to Texas 64-53 on Feb. 9.

“They were on a different planet today, especially that first quarter. They came out and they were aggressive,” Brooks said. “They play right to the rules. The rules allow a certain level of physicality. They play right to it. They don’t go over it. They play right to it. Today, I thought they did a tremendous job of pushing us off of our mark.”

Harmon plays through pain

Even after jamming her finger late in the first quarter, Harmon had nine points, five rebounds, five assists and six steals by halftime.

“It’s not that big of a deal, but yeah, I have jammed this middle finger quite a few times this year, so that’s basically what happened,” she said. “It’s pretty swollen right now, but like coach said, I think in the heat of the moment, you kind of forget about it obviously.”

That first-half performance matched the 5-5-5 line Notre Dame guard Hannah Hidalgo, who has an NCAA single-season record 199 steals, had in the Fighting Irish’s NCAA opener against Fairfield.

Horns run wild on the fast break

The Longhorns finished with a 20-0 advantage in fast-break points, with 14 of those coming by halftime when they had a 48-26 lead.

Texas has won its three NCAA tourney games by a combined margin of 106 points. This was the closest after winning both of its games in the first two rounds at home by 42 points, including 100-58 over Oregon to advance to the Sweet 16 site only about 200 miles from the Austin campus.

After Harmon’s assisted spurt, the bigger run for Texas ended midway through the first quarter after a steal by Harmon, who passed to Booker, who then assisted on a layup by Lee for a 15-3 lead. Texas maintained a double-digit lead the rest of the game.

MICHIGAN 71, LOUISVILLE 52

FORT WORTH, Texas — Olivia Olson scored 19 points, fellow sophomore Syla Swords added 16 and No. 2 Michigan overcame a sluggish start for a victory over Louisville in the Sweet 16 on Saturday.

The Wolverines had a 16-0 run in the second quarter to erase an 11-point deficit, their biggest, then broke a tie in the third quarter by scoring 17 consecutive points and cruising to their second Elite Eight, both in the past five seasons.

Michigan (28-6) tied a school record for victories and will play top-seeded Texas on Monday night for a spot in the Final Four.

Elif Istanbulluoglu scored 18 points for the third-seeded Cardinals (29-8), who shot 35% and were outscored 49-16 over a two-quarter stretch from midway through the second to the middle of the fourth.

Olson, the top scorer among a bevy of sophomores leading both teams, missed four of her first five shots, and the Wolverines went more than six minutes without scoring to start the game.

Te’Yala Delfosse, who had 10 points, eight rebounds and two blocks, had a 3-pointer during the second-quarter run that she capped with a three-point play for Michigan’s first lead at 28-25.
