to explore careers in healthcare while giving back through volunteer service.

The program will run from June 15 through July 24 and is open to all high school students, including 2026 graduating seniors. Participants will be expected to volunteer for at least one shift per week.

Since launching in 2022, the Summer Teen Ambassador Program has provided students with valuable experience through volunteer work and job shadowing at The Medical Center at Bowling Green. Students are grouped together and rotate through various hospital departments, gaining insight from both clinical and administrative professionals.

In addition to learning about healthcare careers, participants assist patients, staff and visitors, contributing to the hospital's daily operations. "This program allows students to work alongside healthcare professionals in different departments, gaining a deeper understanding of the career paths available in healthcare," said Sarah Widener, Community Wellness Director. "Students will have the opportunity to gain real-world experience and meet a variety of professionals across a wide range of roles."

Applications are available online at medcenterhealth.org/teen-ambassador-program. The deadline to apply is 5 p.m. Thursday, April 30.
