

Southern start

In Texas, Georgia, Florida and other southern states, February is the start of garden season.

- It's time for southerners to plant root vegetables, including carrots, beets, and onions sets. Plant your peas if you haven't already, and get your cabbages, kales, and broccoli in the ground.
- Cut back ornamental grasses and dead stalks on perennials.
- Transplant snapdragons and pansies. Direct seed poppies and sweet peas.
- Give the compost pile a flip. – Brenda Weaver

Just Hunting

KENTUCKY
World Series

by Steve Brewer

Absence of rabbit hunters is a sad day

This time of year, brings back many memories, that even go back to my childhood, the memories of rabbit hunting.

Every time I go to Winchester this time of year and notice the wide-open fields that is the home of many rabbits, the thing I notice most is the absence of orange hunting jackets, and the sight and sound of Mr. Beagle in the fields chasing the rabbit.

As a youth growing up, I would have given every penny that my dad had, to have a field like that to hunt in. But as I have written about before in this paper, the things missing in these fields here is the hunters and beagles.

I am a lifelong rabbit hunter, and one thing I know is good rabbit hunting grounds, and if I was grading the fields between my home and Winchester, they would get a A+.

You see, back home I can never remember a neighbor, farmer, or anyone telling you that you could not hunt on their property. Now, there are people here I have been told will call the police if you are on their property. Man, has things changed.

I have not done a survey to find out if the landowner denies the hunter, or if it is that rabbit hunting has come to a halt. Either way the foxes, raccoons, coyotes, bobcats, and traffic are getting fat, while one of the cleanest, best eating wild animals are not on someone's table being ate by some one that knows how to eat.

All my writing, all my talking about the hunters not hunting those fields, will not help one bit. It takes action on both the hunter, and landowner for change.

Another sad day is here, another rabbit season closing without those big, beautiful fields being hunted.

The world is changing,

but not for the best in my opinion.

Samaritan's Purse Celebrates 12.2 Million Shoebox Gifts in "Operation Christmas Child"

KENTUCKY, Jan. 22, 2026 - Samaritan's Purse is celebrating a successful season after collecting 12.2 million Operation Christmas Child shoebox gifts in 2025, sharing the love of Jesus with children in need around the world through efforts of local churches including Salem Baptist Church in Irvine.

The milestone reflects the generosity of millions of shoebox packers helping to fill shoebox gifts with toys, school supplies and personal care items. Across the U.S., the project collected 10.9 million shoebox gifts in 2025. Combined with those collected from partnering countries, the ministry is now sending over 12.2 million shoebox gifts to children worldwide, including those whose lives were turned upside down by Hurricane Maria, a category 5 storm that recently struck Jamaica.

"Each shoebox gift is an opportunity to remind boys and girls around the world that God loves them," said Franklin Graham, president of Samaritan's Purse. "We are so thankful for the generosity of every person who packed a shoebox. These gifts are bringing joy and the hope of the Gospel to children in need."

For many children, a shoebox gift is the first gift they have ever received. Each one is a tangible expression of God's love, offering hope to children facing war, poverty, disease and disaster.
