

Enticed, hooked and led astray

I haven't been fishing in many years. Some girl friends and I would like to try it sometime in the spring. I am told by the real fishermen that there are three important areas to consider. They are: where we will fish, the time of year and weather, and the lure and bait we use. These areas will help us to entice the fish, get them to take the baited hook, and bring home a nice catch. Fishermen use different types of bait based on what they are fishing for. Live worms, grubs, minnows, insects, and artificial ones. These decoy lures are added to get the fish curious, enticing them to come and check it out. These lures may make sounds, be very colorful and shiny, have feathers, and maybe even vibrate or wobble. Using the artificial lures allows one to reuse that decoy time after time. As a Bible teacher, I recognized a similarity to using bait/lures to tempt the fish and Satan using bait to tempt us away from our course. The devil transforms himself as 2 Corinthians 11:14 says an angel of light. There are times when we are weak and weary and can be persuaded by his trickery and false promises to make poor choices and be distracted from our calling. 1 John 2:16 says that in this world we fall into temptation by the lust of our flesh, our eyes, and our pride. James reminds us that God does not tempt us, but we are drawn away by our own desires and enticed, so don't be deceived (James 1:14,16). Satan opens his tackle box and casts his fishing lines at our mind, heart, and eyes with lies and attractive imitations. When we have hit rock bottom, Satan adds a sinker to the line and offers drugs and alcohol to ease grief, pain, and depression. He dangles get-rich-quick schemes when we need money, and divorce when we want change. He leads us to the wrong crowd of people, and we do things we know are not Godly just to fill our loneliness. We read in scripture that Joseph ran from the temptations of Potiphar's wife (Genesis 39:10-18). James 4:7, "Submit yourself therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you." Even though Joseph was thrown in prison for a time, God was with him and he became second in command to the Pharaoh. Samson on the other hand allowed his lusts for Delilah to lead him astray and the consequences resulted in his hair cut and the removal of his eyes (Judges 16:4-21). 1 Peter 5:6-8 exhorts us to stay humble, cast our cares on the Lord because He cares, and to stay sober and vigilant. Why? Because our enemy and adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, prowls around seeking whom he may devour. And if you are living for the Lord, he pretends to fulfill whatever your needs are only to kill, steal, and destroy your calling, testimony, and make you ineffective (John 10:10). When we open ourselves to the enticements, Satan will use them over and over like the artificial fishing lures fishermen use and strike; we are hooked. James 1:12 is our encouragement, "Blessed is the man that endures temptation (flees from it) for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord has promised to them that love Him." We need to be like Jesus when He was tempted in the wilderness: use the Word of God. Verse 4:8 tells us to draw near to God and He will draw near to us, cleanse our hands and purify our hearts, not be double minded. Paul gives us the armor of God in Ephesians 6 to use against the fiery darts of Satan and save us from being enticed, hooked, and led astray. Get hooked on Jesus!

The touch that transforms

Matthew 8:1, When he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him. 2 And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. 3 And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed. 4 And Jesus saith unto him, see thou tell no man; but go thy way, shew thyself to the priest, and offer the gift that Moses commanded, for a testimony unto them. Seven times in the book of Matthew, Jesus came to people with sickness, or infirmities, and healed them with a touch. The people who witnessed the touch of Jesus would find it impossible to deny the Deity of Christ. However, although Jesus was Divine, he was also in a human form. The verses show the importance of the God Touch, but also the need for the human touch.

Although Jesus had the power to simply speak a word and command illness to leave, He often chose a more hands-on approach. In the case of the leper in today's passage, Jesus' personal touch must have been something the man rarely experienced, since he was considered untouchable. In fact, that may be why Jesus chose this avenue of healing. The need for a touch from a fellow human being has not disappeared in the 2,000 years since Jesus walked on the earth. We live in a world dominated by social media and technology — we are now more isolated from other people than ever before. Physical contact is being replaced with "likes" on Facebook. And when we do think of touch, it's often associated with scandal, immorality, or immorality. How did this wonderful word become so maligned? As Christians, we have an opportunity to "touch" people in a variety of ways, including by our words — for example, the proclamation of salvation through Jesus Christ can transform a person's life and eternal destiny. However, ministry is also accomplished with our hands through service, compassion, and the encouragement of a hug or loving pat on the shoulder. Our heart, mouth, and hands must be cooperating in order to fully minister in Jesus' name. And whether alone or gathered with others, we have the privilege of touching lives through prayer. Jesus touched people both physically and spiritually, and as His followers, we must do likewise. Look for opportunities in which God might use you for His glory.

NATHAN LOWE

Go — do likewise!

Christian, what are we supposed to do after Jesus saves us? The answer is found in Luke 10:25-42. Jesus says we are to represent Him, we are to be a good neighbor, and we are to worship our Heavenly Father. And Jesus concludes by saying, "Go and do likewise." The Samaritan's deed of mercy has inspired people all over the world. The Good Samaritan is probably the best known story from the Bible. Some critics have called it "the greatest story ever told." What are we to be doing as Christians? Jesus says we are to be ambassadors for Him. He sent His disciples out with His message. Then He said we were to be good neighbors. and look for opportunities to show mercy in His name. That is the example of the Good Samaritan. He concludes by saying that we are to "sit at the feet" of Jesus as did Mary.

We are to listen to His words and commune with Him. Ambassador, neighbor, and worshipper. There is your answer of what we are to be doing in the world. First, Jesus sent His disciples to represent Him before the world. "As the Father hath sent me, even so sent I you" (John 20:21). Wherever we are, we are to represent our Lord. What an honor and privilege to represent the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords! Second, Jesus says we are to be a good neighbor; He shows us this in the Good Samaritan. Look around you. Do you see someone who needs help? That's your neighbor. Jesus says, "Go and do likewise." Jesus concludes by saying we are to be worshipers of God. Worship is at the heart of all we do. Before we can be an ambassador for Him or a good neighbor, we must sit "at the feet" of Jesus and learn from Him. Jesus said, "For without Me you can do nothing" (John 15:5). May God bless you as you serve Him. May you have a wonderful week doing the will of God!

GEORGE W. SMITH

Saint Peter and the Pearly Gates

God created Saint Peter and us, for Himself alone. Jesus wants our one goal, our one supreme and eternal goal, to be grace and glory forever. As Saint Eymard wrote, "Jesus might bestow upon us the merit and happiness of knowing Him, loving Him, and serving Him in this world as my sovereign Lord, as the God of my Heart and of possessing Him hereafter as the God of glory." Right after Jesus' resurrection, He told Peter to "follow Me." I am sure if Jesus had said this to you or me right after Jesus had died and rose from the dead, all kinds of questions would come flooding into our minds. Peter, being just like us, had to receive the Holy Spirit to fully understand all that Jesus meant. Pentecost would accomplish this and also be a guide to Peter as he and the apostles set out to tell the world of what God has done for us. To possess the knowledge that there is an active God in our lives is truly a gift. Have you thought about this? Many people around us go about their lives and never truly give a thought about the existence of a creator who truly cares about us, that there is an eternity, and we will be judged on our deeds as the Bible says many times. Through words of encouragement, living our lives in a holy manner, and prayer, we can help Peter and the apostles build the Catholic Church. Let's work on that, so when Saint Peter greets us at the pearly gates, they are hanging wide open! Jesus, Mary, Saint Joseph. dale54@live.com.

The measure is aimed at improving public safety and enforcement at the local level.

BUDGET UPDATE
The House of Representa-

While a placeholder bill has been filed, it must still complete the House process before the Senate can formally begin its review. In the meantime, the Senate has begun examining background materials and preparing for the detailed comparisons and discussions that lie ahead. I will continue to keep you informed as budget work moves forward in the coming weeks. Thank you for allowing me to serve you. maintenance and team building to computer skills and continuing education for licensed professionals, our team is prepared to support and strengthen the local workforce. One standout opportunity is the Work Ready Kentucky Scholarship, which is available to Kentucky residents who do not already possess an associate degree or higher. This scholarship enables eligible students to earn up to 60 credit hours tuition-free in high-demand career fields. CTE opportunities are also a major focus of regional workforce development organizations, including Career TEAM, the Direct Service Provider for the Kentucky Career Center - Lincoln Trail. According to Kristin Reed, executive director for Career TEAM in the Lincoln Trail region, the team utilizes various tools, including CareerEDGE, TransfrVR and labor market information, to connect clients to the most suitable career path for their individual needs. Career Advisors work with clients to determine that path using their unique skills and interests. The program can provide career guidance, tuition assistance, as well as work experience opportunities and job-related needs assistance for individuals under 25. In the process, the team utilizes Kentucky Career Center partnerships and connections to help clients find employment opportunities after they complete their training.

By aligning education and training with career opportunities, these regional initiatives demonstrate how CTE not only prepares individuals with high-demand careers but also strengthens the area workforce, helping students and workers thrive while supporting the long-term economic strength of the community.
