piece of land for her and her kids.”

President Trump also addressed foreign policy during his remarks, including tensions involving Iran.

“Their drones are down 85%. We’re blowing up their factories,” Trump said.

Kenny said those comments also stood out to her.

“He did talk about Iran, and I support him on that,” she said. “I just think Trump is an action guy. He’s 100 percent action, and that’s peace through strength.”

Reflecting on the turnout, Kenny said she believes the level of support was clear from the size and enthusiasm of the crowd.

“I see things where people are saying it wasn’t as much support as he actually had there,” she said. “But we saw zero protesters, and there were thousands of people. Thousands of people did not get in.”

She said the energy inside the building was unmistakable.

“If there were 2,500 or 3,000 people in there, there were 3,000 people who loved that man,” Kenny said. “The energy around us was incredible.”

For Kenny, the experience was about more than hearing a speech. It was about patriotism, support, and pride.

“We’re proud,” she said. “All three of us were proud to be there.”

Inaccurate claims can lead to penalties and enforcement action.

11. Spear-phishing and malware campaigns targeting tax professionals. Tax professionals and businesses remain targets of “new client” or “document request” emails that deliver malicious links or attachments to steal client data or access systems. The IRS and the Security Summit urge preparers to remain vigilant and to strengthen their security practices. Businesses and individuals, including tax pros, should always be cautious and look out for any suspicious requests or unusual behavior before sharing any sensitive information or responding to an email.

12. Aggressive or misleading Offer in Compromise marketing (“OIC mills”). The Offer in Compromise program can help certain eligible taxpayers resolve tax debt when they are unable to pay in full, but “OIC mills” often overpromise results and charge high fees to taxpayers who don’t qualify. Taxpayers can check eligibility using free IRS tools to avoid high-pressure sales tactics.

How to protect yourself and what to do if you get a suspicious message or call •Don’t click unexpected links or open unexpected attachments.

•If you get a suspicious IRS-related call, hang up. The IRS provides guidance on what to do next, including how to report scams.

•To report suspected IRS-related phishing emails or messages, send them to phishing@irs.gov and follow IRS reporting instructions.

•If you think your tax identity has been compromised, visit IRS.gov/id theft for steps to protect your account and recover.

Report abusive tax schemes and suspicious activity

The IRS encourages taxpayers, tax professionals, and the public to report suspected tax fraud, scams, identity theft, or other tax-related wrongdoing by visiting IRS.gov/SubmitATip.

The new online tool allows individuals to confidentially submit information using a smartphone, tablet, or computer. It consolidates IRS fraud-reporting options into one location and routes tips to the appropriate IRS office.
