from the active double-track CSX railroad to the east and Herbert Turner Road to the south.

A double landscape buffer is planned along the eastern and southern property lines, with planting anticipated in spring 2027.

The representative said buildings, cooling systems and power generation are being designed to minimize effects on neighboring properties and meet applicable noise requirements.

Agreements and community involvement

According to the developer's response, no nondisclosure agreements have been signed by Barren County or Cave City officials, or on behalf of economic development, concerning the project. The developer said its only executed nondisclosure agreements are with engineering consultants.

The representative acknowledged residents' concerns and described commitments to permanent employment, local construction work, scholarships, property tax revenue and protection of natural resources.

"We intend to be a good neighbor and a long-term partner to Barren County," the representative said.

The development and engineering team plans to announce community information sessions as the project progresses. No dates were provided.

Commercial district planned in Cave City

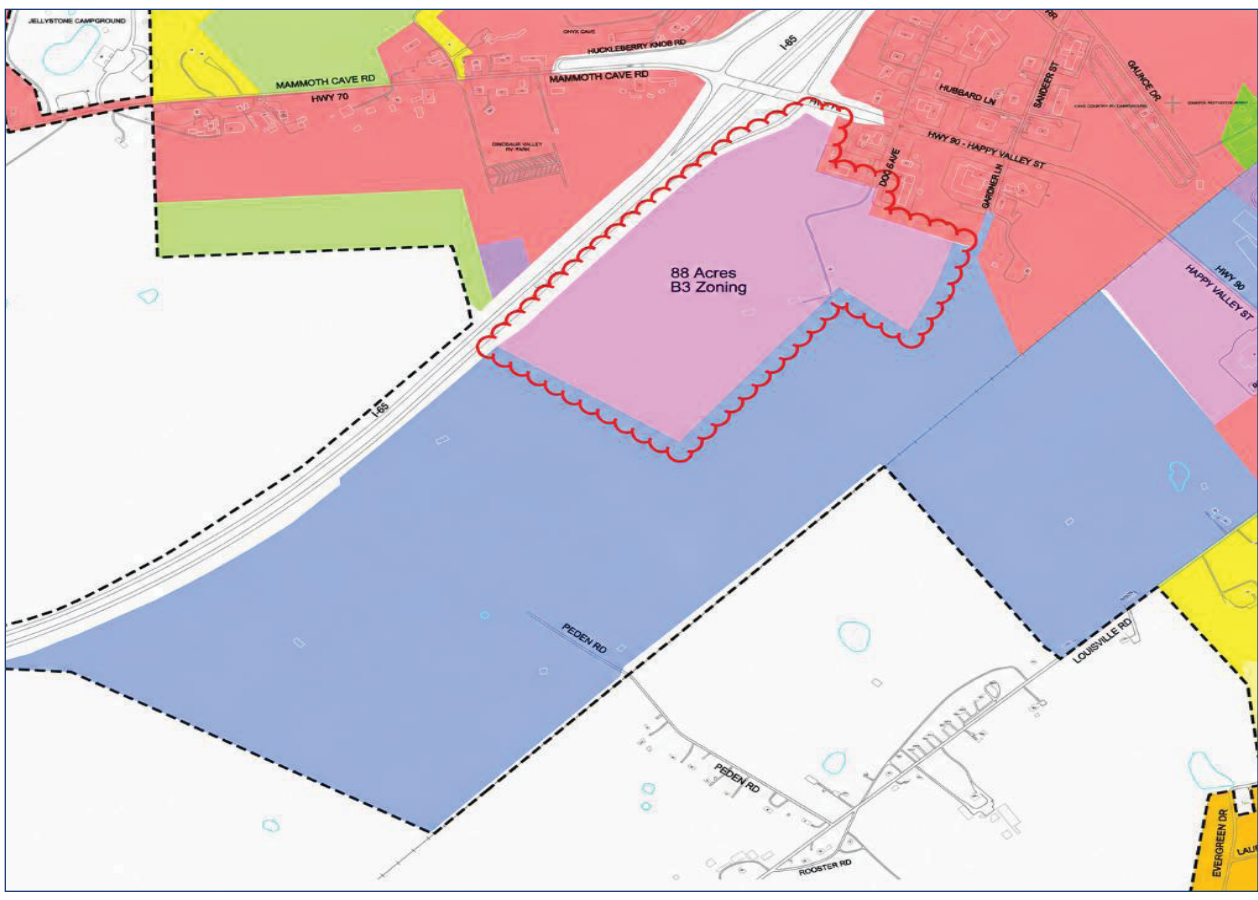

Alongside the technology campus, the developer is planning an 88-acre commercial and hospitality district at the I-65 and KY 70-90 interchange.

The proposed district would include a travel center, hotels, retail businesses, dining and a community center.

The developer described the commercial proposal as an opportunity to encourage travelers visiting Mammoth Cave and driving between Nashville and Louisville to stop and spend in Cave City. The response also referenced the county's planned agriculture expo center as a complementary attraction.

A pre-application meeting has been requested with the Joint City-County Planning Commission to begin the process, according to the representative.

The BCP will provide updates in the weeks ahead as this project proceeds.

The outlined area on the map shows the location of the proposed 88-acre commercial and hospitality district at the I-65 and KY 70-90 interchange.
