OFFICIALS

Administrator

He/she must assess all property within the county, prepare property assessment records, and perform other duties relating to assessment as the law or the Department of Revenue may prescribe.

Coroner

When determining the cause of death, the coroner may enter the property; seize evidence; interrogate persons; and require the production of medical records, documents, or evidence. The coroner may impound vehicles involved in fatal accidents, investigate and photograph items pertaining to the cause of death.

Sheriff

Duties fall under 4 categories: tax collection, election duties, services to courts, and law enforcement. They enforce all laws, serve subpoenas, warrants, summonses, EPOs, and orders of the court, patrol all public roads in the county, investigate all accidents and wrecks, inspect vehicles, and collect property taxes for the state, county, and school districts.

Jailer

The jailer provides transportation and guards prisoners to and from the court, jail, and medical care. Occasionally, the jailer is responsible for transporting federal prisoners for the state. Monthly reporting must be done to fiscal court and the Department of Corrections.

Magistrate

Magistrates are members of the fiscal court and can appropriate county funds for lawful purposes, buy and sell county property; supervise the fiscal affairs of the county and county officers. The fiscal court is responsible for the construction, operation, and maintenance of county buildings, roads, and other property, and the incarceration of prisoners.

Magistrates possess no administrative or executive power concerning county government when outside fiscal court, however, they may perform marriages when authorized by the governor or their county judge/executive.

Constable

Constables are peace officers with powers to arrest and the authority to serve warrants, summonses, subpoenas, attachments, notices, rules, and orders of the court in all criminal, penal, and civil cases.

Mayor

The mayor presides over meetings of the city council, enforces city ordinances, orders, and statutes, supervises all departments of city government, all city officers and employees, requires each department to make reports to him, executes all bonds, notes, contracts, and written obligations of the city, and oversees the continuation of the functions of the city government.

City Council Member

Members are responsible for the legislative functions of the city, creating ordinances, developing policies, establishing the overall direction of the city, and providing general direction to the mayor.

Soil and Water Conservation District

He/she is must assist landowners, serving as coordinators for conservation in the field, implement farm, ranch, and forestland conservation practices to protect soil productivity, water quality and quantity, air quality, and wildlife habitat, conserve and restore wetlands, which purify water and provide habitat for birds, fish, and other animals.

School Board Members

Members work as a team to govern the activities of the school district, set policies, and provide resources to improve achievement for the benefit of individuals and groups in the school district. Individual board members have no authority outside of legally called board meetings.

remain vigilant in recognizing warning signs and preventing misconduct.

To address the issue, KASA outlined a three-part strategy: raising awareness of grooming behaviors, strengthening professional training for school leaders, and advocating for policies that enhance prevention, reporting, and accountability.

The organization said this approach will be incorporated into upcoming professional development events, including the Education Law & Finance Conference and the Annual Leadership Institute.

KASA leaders reaffirmed their commitment to believing and supporting victims and ensuring Kentucky schools remain places of safety, dignity, and care for every student.
