

COACHES

investigation regarding the recruitment of former Clemson linebacker Luke Ferrelli.

Quotable: “There’s always going to be history. It’s the ex, right? There’s always going to be the history.” — Golding on replacing Kiffin.

ALEX GOLESH, AUBURN
Age: 42.
Alma mater: Ohio State.
Previous job: South Florida head coach (2023-25).
Notable: Brought 13 players with him from USF to Auburn, including QB Byrum Brown and WRs Chas Nimrod, Keshawn Singleton, Jeremiah Koger and Christian Neptune. Those familiar faces could help ease Golesh’s transition to the SEC.

Quotable: “I don’t set goals. I’ve always thought that that’s a little bit like New Year’s resolutions — they usually work for a little bit and you kind of keep it moving. I set standards. Our standard is to be the best versions of us every single day.”

LANE KIFFIN, LSU
Age: 51.
Alma mater: Fresno State.
Previous job: Mississippi head coach (2020-25).
Notable: First head coach at three different SEC schools (Tennessee, Mississippi, LSU). Gave up social media in May after his teenage son, Knox, challenged him to do so and says “comparisons are the thief of joy.”
Quotable: “We’re all going to die. And so some of the things that we put importance on, we worry about, and what this person says and that, really aren’t going to matter.”

RYAN SILVERFIELD, ARKANSAS
Age: 45.
Alma mater: Hampden-Sydney.
Former job: Memphis head coach (2020-25).
Notable: Has 80 new players on Arkansas’ roster, including seven from Memphis. First thing he did with the Razorbacks: installed new lightbulbs everywhere and says “it shows changes are coming.” Takes over a Razorbacks team that lost seven games by less than 10 points and five by less than three points last season.
Quotable: “That’s great. Keep doubting me. What did you say my record was against the coaches in this conference?” — After being asked about his 5-1 record against current SEC coaches.

WILL STEIN, KENTUCKY
Age: 36.
Alma mater: Louisville.
Previous job: Oregon offensive coordinator/QBs coach (2023-25).
Notable: Has a pickleball court in his backyard. Grew up in Kentucky and attended Wildcats games at Commonwealth Stadium. Father played at Kentucky, and mother is a UK graduate.
Quotable: “Because of me, to be honest. I know what it takes. I have seen it at the highest levels. ... You just got to believe, man. You just got to put the ball down and play. There’s really nothing else to be said.” — Stein when asked why he believes he can win big at Kentucky.

JON SUMRALL, FLORIDA
Age: 44.
Alma mater: Kentucky.
Previous job: Tulane head coach (2024-25).
Notable: Went 43-12 at Troy (2022-23) and Tulane, reaching a conference title game in each of his first four years as a head coach. Has the fourth-highest winning percentage (.796) of any current FBS coach.

Quotable: “There are no shortcuts. I don’t care if you’ve been winning or you hadn’t been winning. ... There have been some really good things going on at the University of Florida before my arrival. There have. We haven’t won enough games. We need to win more games. Like 4-8 last year is not OK at the University of Florida. We got to fix that.”

KIM

No. 18 where water lines each hole.
“I just kind of told myself like, ‘Hey, this is the way, this is the moment to get into the history books and let’s go for it, let’s not try to luck our way into it, let’s try to step up and hit some really good shots,’” he said.
Kim made a 17-foot birdie putt on No. 17, and a wedge from 124 yards landed pin high but rolled to the fringe of the 18th green, leaving an uphill putt with little break.

“I tend to leave those short when it’s that uphill and I just, last thing was just get it there, just don’t leave it short,” said Kim, who raised his hands and did a few fist bumps when the ball sank into the cup.
Kim, whose previous career low round was 62, made five straight birdies beginning on No. 3 and added three in a four-hole stretch beginning on No. 9.
Eight of his birdies were from more than 10 feet.
“When you hit a putt and it does exactly what you kind of envisioned before you hit it, it’s an awesome feeling. Felt like that all day out there,” said

Kim, whose lone tour win came at the 2018 John Deere Classic.
Second in the Valero Texas Open in April, Kim’s best finish in 12 tournaments since was 17th, and he missed four cuts, including the past three weeks at the British Open, Scottish Open and John Deere Classic.
Playing the previous five weeks, Kim thought about skipping this week’s tour stop.
“I felt decent energy-wise,” Kim said, “so I went home after I missed the cut at the Open, just spent a couple days relaxing and came up here and really happy I did.”
