Aqua Zumba classes are coming back to the pool at Colvin Community Center in Radcliff. Hosted by Kimberly Perry, classes will be held every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. Classes start at 6:30 p.m. and are $7 per person.

Patrons who go through the main admission area for the waterpark but want to eat at the food trucks will receive a wristband and be able to enter and exit through the left gate.

“Patrons can bring that back into our food court area, it still isn’t allowed on the pool deck, but they can take that into the food court area or anywhere in the park,” Case said. “As long as you have your wristband on we’ll let you right back into the water park.”

The American Legion Water Park will be open Monday through Saturday 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. and open 1 to 6 p.m. on Sunday’s. Twilight hours are from 4 to 6 p.m. daily when admission prices are reduced.

Regular admission for adults is $9 and children ages 4 to 17 are $7. Children 3 and younger are free.

During twilight hours, the prices drop to $6 for adults and $4 for children.

The park also offers season passes for families of up to six members for $275 and individuals for $125.

“Both of those are a great deal. That is just discounted admission if you’re going to be here more than five times in the summer,” Case said.

The capacity at American Legion has increased this year, Case said, so it will be able to accommodate more visitors.

“We have the grass beach area and that has let us get our capacity increased by 100, so we are now at 600 persons, whereas before we were 500,” Case said. “All the improvements we’ve done have been community-focused, community-oriented. We’ve listened to people, and we’re trying to do everything we can to make it better based on the feedback we’ve gotten.”

Swim lessons start at the beginning of June.

The water park features two large slides, a lazy river, zero-incline area for those who are mobility restricted and a deep end.

In Radcliff, the Colvin Community Center pool at 230 Freedoms Way also opens at 11 a.m. May 23.

Radcliff Parks and Recreation Director Rebekah Kammeyer said they are almost ready for opening day.

“As of right now, no we’re not ready but we will be,” Kammeyer said. “We have everything set chemically. We are just going through the lifeguard training courses right now.”

The pool is open Monday through Thursday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., Fridays 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., Saturdays 11 a.m. – 5 p.m. and Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m.

Admission to the pool is $5, with adults 65 and older and children 4 and younger admitted free.

The pool goes from three feet deep to 12 feet deep.

“We do offer a season pass but they are limited so they have to be purchased through the front desk at Colvin Community Center,” Kammeyer said. “I think just about everyone has their own story of their public pool growing up. The pool enables a place of community, place where youth and adults can merge with a common purpose.”

Swim lessons at Colvin begin in June. Those interested can go to Radcliffrecreation.com to register.

Kammeyer said they are also bringing back Aqua Zumba this year with Kimberly Perry. To register call 270-300-6010 or email Perry at kimberlyperry132@hotmail.com.

“Remember the pool staff are people too so it’s always good to treat them with the same respect that you would another person,” Kammeyer said. “If they happen to blow their whistle or jump in after you, it’s for the purpose of safety, nothing personal.”

According to Case, community pools are a big resource to the community.

“It’s where I learned to swim, did swim lessons here as a kid, spent my summers,” Case said. “Recreation in general is just very, very important.”

Both water attractions are open until the first week of August.
