KHSAA reviews realignment requests, soccer class expansion

BY CKNJ SPORTS

The Kentucky High School Athletic Association Board of Control discussed district and regional realignment requests, a possible three-class system for soccer, potential changes to the state golf tournament format, lacrosse mercy-rule recommendations, wrestling alignment adjustments and legislative matters concerning homeschool participation at its meeting Nov. 12.

According to a news release issued by KHSAA, the board heard several requests concerning district and regional alignment during its public comment session including one impacting the 5th Region.

Fort Knox High School requested a move from the 5th Region to the 6th Region, citing logistical changes associated with the military installation. Meade County requested a move from the basketball 3rd Region to the 5th Region, citing its location as the only 3rd Region school in the Eastern Time Zone and other logistical issues.

The board granted tentative approval of both requests, directing KHSAA staff to distribute the proposal to member schools for feedback before final consideration in January.

Representatives from Cornerstone Christian, Gallatin County and Collins discussed potential realignment of the 29th District. The Board's February action remains unchanged, and Cornerstone Christian will remain in the 30th District. The 29th District also will remain unchanged.

The board revisited a request originally presented during its September meeting in which Buckhorn sought to move from the 54th District to the 55th District, with Cordia moving from the 53rd District to the 54th District to provide better balance within the region.

Wolfe County and Cordia expressed opposition to the proposal, citing increased travel distances and costs. Cordia also raised concerns about the management of athletics within the Knott County school district if that request was approved.

The board voted to deny Buckhorn's realignment request at this time and directed the schools involved to continue discussions regarding potential collaborative solutions. These considerations could include regional tournament adjustments to help alleviate concerns about the imbalance in the number of teams in each district.

Floyd County reiterated its request that Lawrence County be removed from the 58th District, citing travel concerns related to accessing Lawrence County via the 57th District. The board voted to deny Floyd County's request and directed the schools involved to continue discussions regarding possible collaborative options.

The board gave tentative approval to Whitesville Trinity's realignment request. The proposal will be distributed to member schools for feedback with final consideration scheduled for the board's January meeting.

In other action, the board voted 9-5 to direct staff to develop possible parameters for a three-class soccer system to be implemented on a three-year trial basis, to be further considered at its January meeting.
