

Kentucky State Police adds tactical vehicle

BY TOM LATEK
KENTUCKY TODAY

FRANKFORT — Kentucky State Police has added a specialized “Rook” armored vehicle to its fleet, enhancing the agency’s ability to respond to calls while prioritizing the safety of both troopers and the public. “Our brave law enforcement officers put themselves in harm’s way to make our communities safer,” Gov. Andy Beshear said. “Providing them the resources they need not only boosts public safety, but also helps ensure they can return home safely to their family at the end of each shift.” The Rook is a versatile tactical vehicle designed to protect officers in complex law enforcement operations, including hostage situations, barricaded subjects, riot response and natural disaster scenarios. Its compact design allows it to operate in confined spaces where the use of traditional armored vehicles may be limited. Interchangeable attachments, such as a hydraulic fork for removing obstacles and an armored personnel cage for a protected approach, allow troopers to intervene in dangerous situations. KSP’s Rook is the only such vehicle in the state and one of only 108 in the nation. The vehicle was purchased in December 2025 using asset forfeiture funds, which are funds seized from criminal activity that are in turn used to enhance public safety at no additional cost to Kentucky taxpayers. “The Kentucky State Police is committed to providing our troopers with the best equipment available to safely resolve critical incidents,” KSP Commissioner Phillip Burnett Jr. said. “This purchase is the direct result of successful investigative efforts by our troopers, turning funds that were derived from criminal activity into tools that help us combat crime and protect Kentuckians.” The positive impacts of the Rook already have been proven. Since its acquisition, KSP’s Special Response Team has deployed the Rook eight times, and it has proven to be a life-saving tool, helping breach barricades and protect troopers while serving high-risk warrants. By investing in advanced tools like the Rook, the KSP says this helps them continue their mission to protect and serve the people of Kentucky while ensuring troopers are equipped to meet evolving public safety challenges.

Dalton Goff performed a solo on trumpet and Lariah Lafferty performed a solo on trombone. Members of the High School Choir — Delaney Hartman, Emma Newby, Joslyn Jetts, Lillith Banta, Theresia Franklin, and Timothy Foster — also sang a medley of patriotic songs. Introducing the speaker was Jeff Thoke, chairman of Bluegrass Honor Flight, noting that the veterans “weren’t meant to conquer the world but improve the world.”

popular during WWI in Flanders, Western Belgium. During the devastation of WWI, the only thing that grew on the war-destroyed fields was the poppy, which soon became the symbol of veteran remembrance. Following Fisher’s address, Rotarian Jon Dunlap presented Fisher and fellow WWII veteran Wayne “Jiggs” Goode Rotary Challenge coins, explaining the coins are more than just collectibles, they are tangible symbols of loyalty, shared experience, and recognition, creating a sense of belonging and serving as lasting reminders of achievements, relationships, and service within an organization. Concluding the ceremony, the Rev. Joel Whitice cited the symbolism of the MIA/POW empty table — which had been set for the ceremony — for remembering those who remain absent and unidentified. The ceremony was closed with a 21-gun salute and the playing of taps by eighth grader Dalton Goff.

Glenn “Sonny” Fisher, one of two surviving World War II veterans from Trimble County, spoke from his experience beginning as a 15-year-old trying to get into the Army and finally being inducted at age 16 after lying about his age to get in. Fisher began his comments by citing Ecclesiastes 3:1 “To everything there is a season ... today we give thanks for everything, even the air we breathe.” Formerly Decoration Day, the remembrance was changed to Memorial Day in 1971 to be celebrated the last Monday in May as a way to remember the more than 1.2 million veterans who made the ultimate sacrifice for freedom including more than 100,000 in WWI, more than 400,000 in WWII, more than 36,000 in Korea and more than 69,000 in Vietnam, plus the thousands of others in more recent conflicts. Fisher also spoke of the poppy, a symbol of remembrance. Poppies were their vision, their goals, and their desire to be a true community partner here in Casey County. The strong turnout today spoke volumes about the excitement and hope for what lies ahead,” Johnson said. “The Liberty-Casey County Chamber of Commerce proudly welcomes East Kentucky Power Cooperative to Casey County. We are grateful for their investment in our community and look forward to the opportunities, growth, and strong partnerships this project will bring for years to come.” The site is located on what used to be Carr-Sasser Road. This spring, the Casey County Fiscal Court removed the road from the county’s inventory at the request of the co-op, after the co-op purchased nearly every property abutting the road, except one, and the owner of that land has made an agreement with the co-op. The Liberty Plant will generate enough electricity to power around 95,000 Kentucky homes. It will run almost exclusively on natural gas, but has the capability to switch to ultra-low sulfur diesel fuel as a backup fuel source. The plant is expected to be in operation in late 2028.
