percent and greater than 75 percent for juvenile hens - better than biologists predicted.

In addition, the higher-than-usual number of successful nests and higher poult survival rates in those three counties in 2024 showed the tremendous impact of the emergence of the 13-year Brood XIX cicadas in western Kentucky that year.

A separate four-year research study that involved capturing and leg banding nearly 1,300 male birds showed Kentucky's annual harvest rate was 29 percent for mature gobblers and 6 percent for juveniles (jakes). The average year-to-year survival rate was 56 percent for gobblers and 78 percent for jakes.

"Harvest rates did not exceed the 30 percent to 35 percent threshold that past research indicated could be unsustainable, so we're right where we want to be providing opportunities to hunters while protecting the flock long term," Danks said. "We haven't had such comprehensive numbers in decades."

Hunters should familiarize themselves with the regulations before going afield. Basics include:

- Dates: General season, April 18-May 10. Youth season for hunters ages 15 and younger is April 4-5.

- xShooting hours: 30 minutes before sunrise to 30 minutes after sunset.

- Requirements: Annual hunting license and spring turkey permit (or all-in-one Sportsman's License).

Hunters 12 to 15 years old need a youth hunting license and youth turkey permit (or a Youth Sportsman's License). Hunters 11 and under are license-exempt. Hunters under age 16 must be accompanied by an adult.

- Legal birds: Turkeys that are male or have visible beard.

- Bag Limits: Two per spring season, but only one per day. A limit of one bird per wildlife management area per season applies. A youth turkey permit allows hunters 12 to 15 years old to take one bird in either the spring or fall seasons.

- Clothing: Hunter orange not required; recommended if carrying a harvested bird.

- Tagging, recording: Fill out the Harvest Log before moving harvested bird and telecheck it by phone or online by midnight of the day it is recovered. Birds dropped off to a taxidermist or butcher must have a handmade tag with hunter's name, phone and Telecheck confirmation number.

- Leg bands: Harvested turkeys with leg bands should be reported to Kentucky Fish and Wildlife on the Turkey Band reporting webpage.

- Baiting/feeding: Illegal to hunt turkey over bait.

- Callers/Assistants: Callers and assistants who are not hunting do not need licenses or permits.

For all regulations, general information and videos on turkey hunting and processing, see the Spring Turkey Hunting page or the Kentucky Spring Hunting Guide, both online at the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife website (fw.ky.gov).
