them to continue to fight through, Brooks had [13] rebounds [Tuesday], but he got his hands on a lot. He was a warrior in there. That's what you want from your seniors. You want them to be able to lay the foundation that this is how we play. I can say this in my two years at Oldham County, I've only had four seniors, but those four seniors have all laid it on the line, and they have all given everything they could to this program. They all dealt with injuries their senior year. We use the mindset fearless to have the fearless mindset. Regardless of the things that happen and the circumstances, I'm going to continue to work and play hard. That's what we want our program to be about." Sawyers hit two threes while sophomores Matthew Wirth and Ian Breeding also hit one three each to close out the game for Oldham County. Miles drilled a three off an assist by South senior Carter Lawrence while Ballard and Siakam scored to help give the Dragons a 71-56 win and a berth in the Eighth Region Tournament and in the 29th District Championship. "We beat them twice, and we didn't want to be complacent coming into the game," Ballard said. "I haven't been to Henry County since my freshman year, so it's really just doing it for each other and playing how we know the best."

South Oldham will travel back to North Oldham on Friday night to play the North Oldham Mustangs (21-5) for the 29th District Championship. "We haven't lost since we lost the North game," Simpson said. "We'd love a district championship. We have more regional championships at South than we do district championships. We really want to come in here Friday night and play well, but we know that we have an opportunity at [Henry County], and we'll focus on that. We'll get right for North, but our guys know now we got an opportunity to compete for a regional championship, and that's the most important thing." Going into next year, Renner wants his young core to be prepared for the moment and be ready to come back and compete for the 2026-27 season. "I always tell my teams at the banquet, 'be careful what you wish for,'" Renner said. "Seniors are gone, and everybody, parents and kids, all think, 'oh, I should be playing, or it's my turn.'" When it's your turn, you have to be ready. If you don't prepare, from this moment after losing to the beginning of next season and if you wait until that time, you're not going to be ready. They can be young, and they're going to be a little older next year, but if they don't get in the gym and work on their game and if they don't work on their bodies and get stronger, then maybe, we'll get a few more wins, but the season is going to end like this."

Renner believes Hinkle and Kightlinger will be successful after their basketball careers come to an end because of the work ethic they have and attitude and mindset they brought to every game and practice. "You only win 12 games, you're losing to your rivals," Renner said. "It's one of those where it's easy for kids, and I think in today's world, a lot of kids will just quit. A lot of kids will just say, 'it isn't worth it.'" There were probably moments those guys thought that. Everybody's going to think that, but they did not quit. I think those are the characteristics when you talk about, what does sports do? Sports can expose you, but sports can also build you to be a productive young man, and those two guys are headed in the right direction."
