awareness and raise funds for research so that each year it gets better and better.”

Yanes added that recent advances in Alzheimer’s research and treatment give families hope for continued progress in the fight against the disease.

Tami Fitzgerald, Director of Development for the Alzheimer’s Association Kentucky Chapter, highlighted the impact of fundraising efforts across the state, noting Kentucky volunteers raised $1.2 million last year to support Alzheimer’s research and programs.

“We cannot do this work without you,” Fitzgerald said. “Your participation is critical in us having the funds to do this research and be able to do this important

The evening also featured remarks from this year’s ambassador family. Natalie Jensen Lynch shared her family’s experience caring for her father — former State Representative, State Senator and Circuit Judge Tom Jensen, who is living with Alzheimer’s. She described the disease as having “robbed” her family of the retirement her parents had planned and said she hopes increased research funding will spare future generations from experiencing the same challenges. Lynch and her family are participating in this year’s walk as a registered team while serving as the event’s ambassador family.

Those interested in registering for the 2026 Walk to End Alzheimer’s can do so at act.alz.org. The walk will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 3, at Town Center Park in London.
