classes, was happy with the results. "When Jimmy was here, he said that he got it up to only 90 (mph), which I find a little hard to believe," Kennedy said. "But I was really happy with the way the boat ran." The team is now back in Madison and will make some final modifications before the season opens Fourth of July weekend for the APBA Gold Cup in Madison. After last year's thrash to get ready for the season, Kennedy said that he is much more comfortable this year. "I just feel more comfortable, more at home. I mean, starting the thing last year was always my biggest fear," Kennedy said. "I was hopeful I could get out to Madison this winter and work with the crew, but with my wife having our third kid and everything just never panned out time-wise. But they did a bang-up job on this thing. I know what it takes. I've built a couple of boats now that just that crew is so dedicated to this thing and making it faster. I can't ask for a better one. Plus, they're all Madison's own."
