Sanders swam at once to the car and finally succeeded in opening the door and releasing the victim, bringing him to shore where they immediately started resuscitation methods.

Traffic Light

At last Carrollton has one “stop and go” signal. For the protection of school children and other pedestrians, the city council has had an electric traffic light installed at the intersection of Fifth and Seminary streets, near the Carrollton High School building.

Dies at Funeral

William H. Borchelt, age 60, died of heart failure in the German Lutheran Church at Hunters Bottom while attending the funeral of a neighbor, Mrs. Frank Thieman. Mr. Borchelt had recently purchased the Joe Morris farm near Milton, on which to reside, coming from Chicago where he was a representative of the Fleischmann Yeast Company for over 20 years.

TRIMBLE COUNTY 1951

In Washington College

Miss Georgia C. Miles, a Trimble County girl, has realized her ambition by being admitted to Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C., the only college in the world for the deaf and hard of hearing. Since the college can care for only 235 students, only a small percentage of those desiring to attend can realize their ambition. Only about 60 each year can be accepted from the 48 states.

Buys Company

Paul C. Dant has purchased the Doyle Transfer Company of Carrollton. The transaction included trucks and other operating facilities, except buildings.

In the personnel division, the new owner has selected Tom Doyle as manager of the local branch, and Gene Doyle was chosen to direct the Louisville Terminal. A new manager will be appointed later at the terminal in Cincinnati.

Friday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kidwell had gone to unload some tobacco near Mr. John Richmond's home. One of the little boys was sent back to the house for water and while there lighted the stove for his sister to heat water to wash the dinner dishes. Catherine, aged nine, was singing the baby to sleep. Some impulse took her to the kitchen which she found full of smoke. The children, too terrified to know just what happened, it is thought the stove exploded. At any rate, the house was amass of flames in a matter of minutes and within an hour was in ashes. The little girl, Catherine, got the children out of the house and carried the baby to safety.

The Kidwells are at the Robert Brooks home but have rented the house formerly occupied by Elmo Fisher.

The other fire occurred at the home of Charlie Simpson. It also started from a kerosene stove, destroying a three room house located on Barebone Road some 4 miles from Bedford. Mrs. Simpson and her three small children were at home at the time of the conflagration but were only able to save a hand full of personal property. Insurance covered the dwelling but not the contents.

First Phase for Milton Sewage

C.L. Gossom said this week that he had talked with Miller, Wihrey, and Lee, the same engineering firm that has the Bedford initial planning proposition. Spokesmen indicated to him they were ready with initial planning and nearly in a position to call a public meeting. Like Bedford, Milton had matched a grant in the ratio of $6,000 Federal and State funds and $2,000 local money. Both of the towns will be going into a second phase and Gossom said he hoped the money would be forthcoming.
