

Henry tops Carroll 20-0 in flag-flying shutout

It's always better to win ugly than lose pretty and Henry County proved that Friday night in a 20-0 district win over previously unbeaten Carroll County in a penalty-plagued game in Carrollton.

The two teams spent nearly as much time marching off penalty yards as they did rolling up yards on offense, and tossed a pair of interceptions to boot. In the end, it was visiting Henry County that made the most of the limited opportunities to claim the win.

"That is something that we have to clean up. It's been a thing for us all year. And we talk about the penalties and a lot of them are blocking penalties, which are directly a result of just not moving our feet, not doing what we're supposed to, not doing technique," Henry County coach Matt Wright said. "We're still working at that. We killed two drives because of penalties. That's something that we've talked about all week. When the game's close, it's going to put us in a bad spot."

The two teams combined for five personal fouls in the game's first six minutes and the flags just never stopped flying. Through it all, Henry County (3-3, 1-1 District) managed to wring out a touchdown in each of the first three quarters to take control.

The Wildcats' first score came midway through the first quarter. After an interception set Henry up in good position, quarterback Kayson McAllister hit Camden Clark on a 29-yard catch-and-run for a touchdown. The two-point conversion failed, but Henry led 6-0.

Henry's second score came right before halftime when McAllister hooked up with Blade Boyer on a 13-yard pass and then McAllister added the extra-point kick to give the Wildcats a 13-0 lead at the break.

McAllister and Boyer then connected a second time near the end of the third quarter on an impressive 34-yard pass play that saw Boyer beat the Carroll defense down the field and waltz into the end zone. McAllister drilled his second PAT and Henry led 20-0.

The three-touchdown lead was too much for Carroll to overcome. The Panthers' offense never got going and struggled to cross midfield. Carroll's best drive came midway through the fourth quarter when the Panthers marched down to the 1-yard line before a fourth-down attempt was stuffed to end the threat.

It was Henry's defense that made the difference in the game. Time and again, the Wildcats dominated the line of scrimmage and whenever Carroll needed a big play to get back into the game, Henry's defense stepped up.

"Coach (Tres) Lyons is our defensive coordinator. He does a great job. We were ready for this week. He felt like he knew exactly what they were doing," Wright said. "We got that stop on the 1-yard line to help to keep the shutout, which is, you know, huge for a defense. That's what you want every week. It's really easy to call offense when the other team doesn't score. The defense played lights out."

Carroll County, now 4-1 overall and 1-1 in district play, hits the road next week for a rare Thursday night game when the Panthers travel to Pendleton County.

Henry County also plays on Thursday next week when it hosts Lloyd Memorial.
