

Not your normal Days of Our Lives Recap

EJ DiMera lost his ring that belonged to Stefano and made him feel real cool when he wore it.

He had to go to Italy without it. Meanwhile, his assistant Rita found it, hid it, and we see it later on somebody's skinny finger but don't know whose.

That yawnfest of a boring couple Belle Brady and Chad DiMera arrive in Italy to giggle and figure out weird clues that have something to do with a raggedy chess set that Stefano left Marlena in his will.

They end up at a house belonging to a Dominique Marino and no one is home but there's a fancy chess set, similar to that Goodwill reject Marlena ended up with.

EJ pops up in the room, also invited by the mystery man. The three stand there talking about his house being ugly and stuff, not even thinking they might be on a Blink or Bing camera, and sure enough someone is watching them on their ipad and ... that person is wearing that Stefano ring...

Naturally Belle starts giggling and says they might find another clue in this chess set hidden panel. Neither Belle nor Chad worry about not being at work back at Salem and having a light bill come due because they both free load off other people.

Meanwhile, Philip Kiriakis is in Monte Carlo to do the responsible thing and gamble millions of somebody else's money to see if he can get enough to save the family business Titan and family home.

Marlena's house is free-loader free and she breaks down in tears. Julie Williams barges in unannounced, finds her sobbing, and comforts her. Marlena tells Julie she envies her because all of her freeloaders are still under roof.

Meanwhile, back at Philip's gambling event, he begins playing the game but looks concerned, possibly because his guest Gabi looks like she's gonna sneeze 24/7 and could possibly spray snot snivels all over that classy green velvety tabletop.

She stops mid-achoo to proclaim one of the gamblers was cheating. Sure enough, he was and was thrown out.

Dramatic music plays.

They start over with a new card set. Phillip wins, but it's not enough to save Titan and the Kiriakis mansion.

Dramatic music plays.

What's next? Will he try the claw and stuffed animal machine at Kroger? Will his gambling get out of hand again?
