

Not your normal Days of Our Lives Recap

Last week, we left off with Phillip Kiriakis gambling Gabi's money to try to save Titan, the family company, and Kiriakis mansion, the family home where a lot of freeloaders lived. He wins, but it's not enough money to save either the house or the family business. So, he goes nuts and gambles it all and wins. Gabi kisses him alot but would have been miffed if he had lost her $5 million. He is giddy with excitement, and he and Gabi head back to Salem but because phone service is pretty much rotten everywhere on plant earth when you need it most, his text back home to not sell the house was not delivered and the house sold. He could still save the company though. That boring duo Chad DiMera and Belle Black are back from Italy where they giggled a lot and found a photo at the home of mystery man Dominic Marino, whom they've not met, but trash talked about his house décor behind his back while he was watching them on camera. The photo is of Stefano DiMera holding a little boy. There is speculation that it might be Marlena's little boy and it slipped her mind, like when you misplace a grocery list or your car keys. However, that has not been stated. Meanwhile, Lani gives her sister Chanel some brownies made with medical marijuana to help with her chemo side effects. Chanel, whose mind is now altered from the marijuana, goes to Horton Square and joins Alex on a bench. He is sad and down because his baby's mother had a medical procedure that allegedly left her paralyzed and he is full time caretaker of their baby and stuck with tending to the mother. Chanel, high from her medical brownies, tells Alex she wants to cheer him up with a song and breaks out in rendition of Itsy Bitsy Spider. Joy remains hospitalized and refuses tests offered by Dr. Sarah to see why she can't walk because she knows good and well she can walk but wants attention from Alex. Really though, all Dr. Sarah has to do is pick up Joy's foot and tickle it, saying, "coochie cool!" and when Joy giggled, she would know she's not paralyzed, but that's too easy.
